b. Use of New D/F in Pacific: On 24 Nov the Japanese Naval Attache in Germany informed Tokyo that the Allies were planning to use in the Pacific ("several months from now") a new long-wave system of direction-finding. The message gives details stated to have been obtained from a P/W, and adds that the new system was accurate to within two or three square miles when stations in Scotland and North Africa were used to D/F positions in Germany.
